RE: Updated List of Approved Testing Organizations and Tests

The attached list is being provided to reflect the addition of 360training.com®'s Learn2Serve Food Protection Manager Certification Exam as an approved test for meeting the requirement for being a Certified Food Protection Manager (Qualified Food Operator). There are now four (4) approved tests on the list. 360training.com®'s application demonstrates that they are responsible for all aspects of the testing system that are outlined in our regulations. This test has been reviewed by the Food Protection Program and has been found to include all elements of knowledge and competency required in the regulations.

If you have questions regarding this change please contact the FPP at the number below or email Cynthia.costa@ct.gov.
